14.30 Die verkaufte Braut
D 1932. Director: Max Ophüls. 77 min
Enterprising matchmaker Kezal wants to match the mayor’s daughter Marie with the rich farmer’s son Wenzel. Both of them, however, have already fallen in love with someone else. Marie has fallen for Hans, a postman, Wenzel for Esmaralda, a circus-dancer. Kezal fears for his bonus for the match and causes trouble: he prevents Esmaralda’s performance and makes Marie believe that Hans has “sold” her. In the meantime a bear breaks loose at the circus and within the ensuing chaos, the right people are brought together.

16.30 Der junge Graf
D 1935. Director: Carl Lamač. 91 min
Young Billy and her father make their living as artists. They are aristocrats, but the old Graf Prießnitz disowned his son, Billy’s father, when he eloped with a „circus girl”. Since Billy cannot bear the poverty any more, she writes to the grandfather. The Graf agrees to meet with Billy, but when a servant notices that Billy is a woman, he tells her she has to disguise herself as a man to have a chance with the grandfather. To give some education to the ill-bred “grandson”, the Graf hires Flint as a teacher. Billy falls immediately in love with the teacher. When professor Dodereit visits with his beautiful daughter Marianne, jealousy wins over: Billy puts on a dress and seduces Flint. When Billy realises that she, as the grandson, is supposed to get engaged with Marianne, the situation becomes even more chaotic.

18.30 Transport z ráje
CS 1962. Director: Zbyněk Brynych. 93 min, OV, Engl. subtitles
1944: While the Nazi propaganda film Theresienstadt is being made, the SS-General Knecht inspects the German »showpiece« concentration camp: He wants to prepare for the visit of a delegation from the International Red Cross. He is content with the work of camp leader Holler – until he notices an anti-Nazi poster. Immediately he orders the transport of 4000 inmates to the extermination camp Birkenau. Senior SS-Officer Herz is supposed to work together with the »Judenrat« (Jewish council) to determine who will be transported, but council chairman Löwenbach refuses to cooperate. When Herz discovers the prisoner Fiala as one of the originators of the poster, he shoots at him. Fiala can flee for the time being, but there is no escape from Theresienstadt.

Guest: Arnošt Lustig

21.00 Das Schloß
BRD 1967/68. Director: Rudolf Noelte. 88 min
Surveyor K. takes on a new job for a mysterious castle, which is controlled by puzzling officials. He can neither find entry into the castle nor does he gain ground in a small village at the foot of the castle. The villagers seem to mistrust him. Only Frieda, who runs a local pub, loves him but she leaves him, refusing to tolerate his obsession with the castle. In the end he is finally allowed admission into the castle – but before he can reach his goal, he dies.

Guests: Kafka-Expert Markéta Mališová und Kameramann Wolfgang Treu

17.00 Die goldene Stadt
D 1941/42. Director: Veit Harlan. 110 min
Anna, a farmer’s daughter, lives with her father in a manor near the river Vltava where, long ago, her mother drowned herself in the swamp. Anna is supposed to marry farm hand Thomas and to stay on the farm. But she dreams of visiting the »golden« capital, where her mother came from. Indeed she travels to Prague and meets her cousin Toni, who seduces her and gets her pregnant. He is only interested in the family property and when Anna’s father disowns her because of her betrayal, Toni leaves her. Because her father has remarried, even a rueful return to the farm is no option for the disappointed and desperate Anna, so she follows her mother’s path into the swamp.

19.15 Ach, du fröhliche...
DDR 1961/62. Director: Günter Reisch. 95 min
Christmas 1961, a few months after the building of the Berlin Wall: Lörke, a labor director always loyal to the East-German state and party, wants to have a peaceful celebration with his family. But the harmony is disturbed by his daughter Anne and her friend Thomas. They have secretly gotten engaged and she's expecting a child. That not being enough, Thomas turns out to be a Dissident and thereby offends Lörke deeply. Inflamed with rage, Lörke leaves the Christmas party – and ventures into the life and political perspective of his future son-in-law, so that after his return they are able to have a conciliatory talk.

21.30 Vyšší princip
CS 1960. Director: Jiří Krejčík. 105 min, OV, Engl. subtitles
1942, in a Bohemian town, shortly after the assassination of Reich Protector Heydrich: While Professor Málek is teaching a Latin lesson, the Gestapo arrests three high school seniors, because they have «defaced» a picture of Heydrich in a newspaper. When the teacher, who sees the world with high-minded, «classical» ideals, finds out that the students are to be executed, he decides to act. He refuses to sign an apologetic letter prepared by a colleague who collaborates with the Nazis and rather pleads for the release of the students. But the pleas are in vain and they are executed. In frustration, Málek declares in front of the student body that from the standpoint of the «higher principle» the assassination of a tyrant is acceptable.

17.00 Takový je život
CS 1929/30. Director: Carl Junghans. 70 min
The tragedy of a family, set in the impoverished bourgeoisie of Prague: The husband, a coal heaver, loses his job. He starts drinking excessively and spending his time with a lively waitress. The daughter, a manicurist, has to deal with the flirtations and propositions of rich men. After discovering that she's pregnant with her boyfriend's child, she decides to have an abortion. The mother works as a washer-woman, working her fingers to the bone for her family while closing her eyes to the misery of their lives. When she is seriously scalded by boiling water from a falling washbasin, it brings her to wits end. Her death is followed by her funeral – such is life.

Introduction: Thomas Tode

18.45 Král Velichovek (Der König von Velichovky)
CS 2005/06. Director: Jan Šikl. 52 min, OV, German subtitles
This compilation of private amateur films from the 1930s and 1940s tells about rich squire Karl Seisser, who lived in Velichovky in the Sudetes area. He successfully farmed fields and forests, raised horses and owned an autocar, with which he made trips to Berlin as well as to Prague. Seisser lived luxuriously, with his wife and daughters Lili, Ria and Edith. Lili married a Czech dentist, Ria a German civil servant and Edith a German general. The status of the family – Czech and German – was never a problem. Until the end of the war.

17.00 Schweik's New Adventures
GB 1943. Director: Karel Lamač. 90 min, OV
Based on a satirical pamphlet by popular Czech writer Jaroslav Hasek (»Schweik against the Gestapo«), the film tells about the adventurous and odd travels of the »good soldier« under the German occupation. At the center of the slapstick-like story – which is given a serious background by an introduction from exiled Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk – is a secret mission Schweik has to achieve: He becomes a servant in the home of the head of the Gestapo in Prague to get hold of a playing card which secretly reveals the positions of German ammunition depots.

19.00 Der Mädchenhirt
D 1919. Director: Karl Grune. ca. 70 min
Prague Police commissioner Duschnitz is the illegitimate father of Jaroslav Chrapot, a young man, who has been lured by easy money and fancy clothes to the wrong side of the tracks. Jaroslav, nicknamed „the jaunty Jarda“, spends his time with perky girls and shady guys on Kampa island and makes a living as a pimp. He even goes as far as setting up his girlfriend Bethka with a customer to support his extravagant life. One day Ilonka, a dancer who has fallen in love with him, gives him a precious cigarette-case. Soon thereafter, during a raid the police recognise the cigarette-case as stolen. At the police interrogation, commissioner Duschnitz recognises the suspect as his lost son. When Jarda gets sick, the girls no longer want to have anything to do with him. In a desperate search for money he breaks into his father's apartment, only to be caught...

17.00 Ein Anlaß zum Sprechen
BRD 1965. Director: Haro Senft. 107 min, DVD
A documentary film about the famous FAMU, the Film and TV School of the Academy of Performing Arts in Prague. It shows the Czech film scene of the mid 1960s and gives an impression of the political climate just before »Prague Spring«. The film uses film clips as well as interviews with directors, cinematographers and authors. In this way it introduces the different departments as well as giving insight into teaching methods and discussions between both film students and critics.
Introduction: Ivan Klimes

19.00 Hilde, das Dienstmädchen
DDR 1985/86. Director: Günther Rücker, Jürgen Brauer. 97 min
In 1938 Hilde arrives in Reichenberg (Liberec), a small Bohemian town near the border. It is inhabited mostly by Germans and is a special target of the Henlein-Nazis, who are eager to see it’s »annexation« into the Reich. Hilde works as a maid for a German carpenter, but she wants to meet her lover Erich again, who works in the resistance movement. They meet at hidden places, such as a mountain hut and other lonely spots. They are secretly watched by Peter, the pubescent son of the carpenter. Hilde's love is in direct conflict with the rules of the underground: Erich has to be alone, he is not allowed to confide in Hilde. Eventually he obeys orders and parts with her. Hilde turns to the ardent boy and initiates him into the secrets of love.
